

Woman of the Year 2018

The Professional Women's Chamber, a division of The Springfield Regional Chamber of Commerce, annually presents this Award to a businesswoman in the Greater Springfield area. This is one of the highest regarded awards by citizens and is recognized as the top citation earned locally. Women in the Pioneer Valley are eligible for nomination and a chamber affiliation is not required.

The nominee should best exemplify ideals of outstanding leadership, accomplishments, and service to the community. Services can be rendered over a lifetime or for more recent achievements. In either case, her leadership and accomplishments are regarded as a model for the Greater Springfield Community. The candidate should be gainfully employed in a full-time position (full time volunteering does not meet the criteria).

Submit your Woman of the Year nomination form on reverse side and be sure to thoroughly and accurately describe the nominee's most important attributes. Please feel free to provide additional information and attachments that would assist in the review process.

Please visit our website www.professionalwomenschamber.com to submit your nomination electronically.
